AUTO ACCIDENT NEAR WESTERLY

Two Young Women Injured while on Joy Ride from Eastern Point—Humane Society to Deal with Negligent Mother—Death of Capt. Isaac P. Gavitt—General News.

Joy riders from Eastern Point had a narrow escape from serious injury early Saturday morning, and the few persons cognizant of the fact have been pledged to secrecy as to the identity of the four riders, two chauffeurs and two young women, the latter said to be residents of New London. The party were riding in a big touring car, registered in Pennsylvania, and had been to Watch Hill. On the return trip the chauffeur in charge of the car, wandered from the main highway and traveled along on the Bethel road to Quincy Hill. While skimming along at the rate of nearly forty miles an hour, the rear tire of the forward wheel was punctured and the big machine made a sudden whirl. The two young women were thrown out, but the chauffeurs, accustomed to automobile riding, retained their seats in the car.

One of the women struck on her head, cutting a deep gash. She was rendered unconscious, and did not regain her senses until nearly 4 o'clock Saturday morning, or about three hours after the accident. The other woman was cut and bruised in the right leg, but not severely injured. The injured women were taken into a house in Granite street, where they were attended by a physician. The chauffeurs declared that as bad as was the mishap, that ordinarily it would have been even worse, for usually when the tire gives out, it runs high speed and on a down grade, the result is the overturning of the machine.

While the physician was attending to the injured women, the chauffeurs were busy doctoring the damaged machine. They were anxious to get back to Eastern Point, before their employers noted their absence, and they started on the return trip shortly after four o'clock. As one of the women probably sustained concussion of the brain, it is likely that there will be another chapter of this particular joy ride.

Neighbors have made repeated complaints to Deputy Sheriff William H. Casey, as an agent of the Connecticut Humane society for the town of Stonington of the inhuman actions of a mother who resides in Lower Pawcatuck, and as an agent of the Connecticut Humane society for the town of Stonington of the inhuman actions of a mother who resides in Lower Pawcatuck, and as an agent of the Connecticut Humane society for the town of Stonington of the inhuman actions of a mother who resides in Lower Pawcatuck.

It was announced Friday that the steamer Block Island would land Saturday one thousand girls employed in Willimantic mills, at Watch Hill. In consequence many of the young men of Westerly went to the beach to see the girls. The girls were in the Block Island and were there when the steamer Block Island arrived. There were just one hundred and ninety-eight passengers landed from the steamer. The girls were in the Block Island and were there when the steamer Block Island arrived.

In Indian costume, Sacred Trail is attracting attention in Westerly. With his wife, Good Eyes, and his baby, Western (Good Girl), he is encamped in his wigwag on the old Oak street baseball grounds. He is planning to give a course of lectures under the auspices of the local lodge of Red Men, and make an exhibit of Indian relics. Sacred Trail was educated in a state Indian school in Minnesota. He is the first to tell the Indian story of the Custer massacre, in the east, and says that as it cost the government $1,000 for every Indian killed, it would be more economical as well as most humane to let the Indians live and educate them.

BRIEF STATE NEWS

Hartford.—A score of sick babies are now at the babies' hospital, but there is room for twenty more.

Shelton.—The senate recently confirmed the nomination of William Holmes to be postmaster at Shelton.

Norwalk.—The youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Fisher of South Norwalk recently swallowed a ball of candy and nearly strangled.

New Britain.—The directors of the Union Savings bank have adopted a rule to take business on Saturday, Sept. 4, providing that the bank shall be closed on Saturdays at 12 o'clock.

Essex.—William Doane has a tame deer that pays him a visit every day between 4 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon back of his barn and reaches up and helps himself to apples off the trees.

New Haven.—Dr. Alfred G. Nadler will leave this month for a six months' stay in Europe. He plans to make a study of skin diseases in the clinics of Breslau, Germany, and Berne, Switzerland.

Meriden.—Selectman Mischler has received two oil sprinklers which were shipped to Meriden by Highway Commissioner Macdonald. The experiment of oil dressing the state roads will be tried soon.

Bridgesport.—The will of Goodwin Stoddard disposing of an estate which is estimated by speculation at $200,000, was admitted to probate last week. Julia E. Stoddard, widow of the testator, is the sole beneficiary.

Middletown.—The members of the local lodge of Elks may offer the use of their handsome hall on Main street to the authorities at Westerly so that a public reception may be held by President Taft on the occasion of his visit to this city.

Stamford.—The Telephone Bulletin says that the Stamford exchange there is a cable running to Shippan Point (50-pair cable) which contains forty-four single lines and only four pairs of wires. There is not another cable in the state with the same development.

Fair Haven.—An order posted at the Fair Haven barns, in regard to the conductors and motormen wearing white collars and ties, is being opposed by some of the trolley men, who prefer to wear a negligee shirt with turn-down collar attached and with a knotted tie.

Darien.—At a largely attended town meeting in Darien it was voted not to purchase the charter and rights of the Noroton Water company, and as a consequence it is expected that of bill now before the general assembly authorizing such purchase will be withdrawn.

To the Surf Bathers.
Surf bathing is exhilarating, if not prolonged, but it is not exhilarating or even beneficial to all people. To some it is even harmful. If you are to be healthy and sound there is reason why you should not go to the surf, provided you follow a few plain rules.

First of all—never venture into the water without knowing something of the conditions of that particular beach. Every beach has its peculiarities, and beach peculiarities are not to be taken lightly. Also the condition of the surf varies; it may be safe one day and not safe the following day. If you are to be safe, you must know the conditions of the surf. I stood in the surf at Fire Island when a strong swimming, athletic young friend of mine disappeared from sight in the old world region, and he never came back. I saw him, or indeed missing him, until he had gone ashore, 15 minutes later.

It is only a fool that ignores the simple precaution which every one should take. If you have any organic trouble, you should not go into the surf without a physician's permission; if your heart is weak, you can save the physician's fee—and keep out of the water if you know nothing of your physical condition, be examined by a physician before you go surf bathing.

Don't go into the surf until a good, full hour after your meal—two hours would be much better. Wet your head always as soon as you enter the water. If you cannot swim and the surf is strong, or the beach runs quickly into deep water, keep close to the life-line. You may think it undignified, but it is better to suffer a little in pride than to be carried out beyond your depth—besides, suffering pride may serve as an incentive to learn to swim.

Unless you experience an exhilaration from bathing, the surf will keep you out of it; and come out of it before you begin to feel cold. Fifteen or twenty minutes of surf is enough for anybody. There is nothing to which that old saw, "enough is as good as a feast," applies so forcibly as to surf bathing.—Casper Whitney, in Collier's.

Not Slighted.
A minister's little daughter was visiting a family in a parish church. Her father had recently left. One day she explained to her hostess that he hoped the people of the church would not send for him to conduct funerals, but would have the present pastor of the church. Thinking perhaps she might have given offense she looked up with a bright smile and said: "But of course he would be very glad to attend your funeral."—The Delinquent.

Mistaken Identity.
It was Simon Huntress, the well known stable keeper of South Berwick, who recently lost his false teeth in the vicinity of the Dover Carriage company, and not a guest or friend of Harry McCarthy, as has been stated.—Dover (N. H.) Democrat.

Stumped!
"Would Roosevelt accept the democratic nomination for president and run against Taft?" asked Old Subscriber. We strive to be obliging, but we're not obliging enough to tackle that sort of thing in the good old summer time.—Nashua Telegraph.

Harvard's Lead.
Dr. W. T. Councilman of Harvard has prior to this the discovery of the microbe that causes smallpox, but the Brazilian doctors are getting a good deal of fame out of their late announcement.—Worcester Telegram.

A Slight Difference.
When senators maintain that the tariff has been revised downward perhaps they're thinking of the drop they've got on consumers.—Providence Tribune.

Upholding the Administration.
The Taft money cow is at the family summer home at the seashore, but for all that this is not a milk and water administration.—Beverly Times.

Beverly Outclassed.
If Mr. Taft were as wise as he ought to be he would spend his summer in the south, where the heat is uplifting and ennobling.—Houston Post.

Not So Innocent After All.
Those indicted officers of the Sugar Trust, probably think that they are victims of misplaced confidence in Mr. Taft's administration.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Expensive Walking.
It cost Weston the walkist 62 1-2 cents a mile to walk across the continent, which makes railroad rates look merely nominal.—Albany Journal.
